Behind your best work is a laptop securely connected to America's most reliable 5G network.[2]

Today's workforce is more mobile than ever before – and it's a trend that's likely to accelerate

Your employees need to stay connected and be productive from virtually anywhere. That's where 5G connected laptops powered by Verizon can help transform your operations, not only giving your employees more mobility but also providing:

Reliability

From America's most reliable 5G network,[1] Verizon's highest performing 5G now reaches over 250 million people, paired with the expanding selection of 5G capable laptops to drive new use cases for businesses.

Security

With connected laptops powered by Verizon, businesses can boost cybersecurity by eliminating the use of unsecure public Wi-Fi networks.

Productivity

Organizations with 5G-connected laptops can enable their employees to access key work tools, leverage hybrid AI solutions and stay productive from virtually anywhere.
